L.A. High vs. SAMO High

After I visited L.A High School, I had a chance to observe two different schools. When I visited L.A high school, I was shocked. L.A High School students looked like they didn't have order in their school and they spoke amongst themselves that their school was inferior, and school seemed like an indifference to students. I think that school is a second home for students because students spend most of their time at school and they learn knowledge at school. But L.A High School does not carry out its duty and it must be affecting students' lives now and in the future. Every L.A High School student should be ensured high quality teachers, counselors, and a safe and supportive school environment.

At L.A High School students are not ensured high quality teachers and counselors (right #4). For example, teachers do not discharge their duty. I attended a history class and a biology class, when I visited the school. In the history class, the teacher couldn't control her students. Some students checked their e-mail and some students drew pictures on the board, but she just spent time waiting until they stopped. And in the biology class, the teacher came in front of the classroom and showed a video. She asked her students to take notes. There were no lessons, just a video played. My partner said that they study chapter 3, just watch the video and take notes. I don't understand how this video is enough to explain all of chapter 3. That video was too boring. I looked for where the teacher was and she was sitting in the back doing something. She didn't check attendance. She just passed a paper to have students who attended her class sign in. Teachers must do their duty. Their duty is to teach knowledge to students and help students feel like studying and being successful in their class, society and future.
At L.A High School students are not guaranteed a safe and supportive school environment (right #6). When I met an L.A High School student, we discussed each other's schools. One boy told me that school security can make students sit down on a bench for one hour, if they are late to their class. This boy asked about my school. I think that this happens, but does not occur in our school. It was a surprise, moreover if they are late one or two minutes, they have to spend class time on the bench. I heard that school security do not allow you to have any reason, such as personal matters. If a student has a personal reason for being late, this student will suffer unfairness and will not like to go to school. This rule must be changed like other schools.

When I visited L.A high school, I could feel the difference between L.A high school and Santa Monica High School but most of the difference made me disappointed. I hope that they have better differences than Santa Monica high school. But now I hope that L.A High School students have power to fight for their rights and get back high quality teachers and a safe and supportive school environment.
